Minnesota Newspaper Target Date

WHAT IS IT?

Minnesota Newspaper Target Date is the Minnesota Newspaper Association's Newspapers in Education Program, held annually during N.I.E. Week (the first full week of March).

This program helps get your newspaper in classrooms throughout Minnesota, as part of an exercise to examine and compare unique cultural and economic differences in the state. Using curriculum created by MNA's Journalism Education Committee, teachers guide students through exercises examining newspapers from different Minnesota communities. Lessons introduce students to the content, design and layout of newspapers, as well as look at how newspapers serve their communities.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Classes will write to the program contact person provided by the newspaper, requesting one copy of a certain issue published in March. You may get requests from several schools, some may request the same date, others may not. We aren't able to accurately predict the volume of requests, or specific date requested, however we've asked teachers to limit their request to one issue during the month of March.

Requests will be made through letters written by the students or on a request form we've included in the teacher's materials. Teachers are encouraged to place their requests in February. Please mail the requested copy of your newspaper first class to make certain it arrives in time for the assignment.

Participating teachers will receive a complimentary teacher's guide, "Reading Between the Lines: Minnesota Newspapers and Their Communities," to help them plan the comparative study. The guide contains discussion and activity ideas that are adaptable to most grade levels. (A copy of the guide is on the MNA Web site, www.mna.org.)

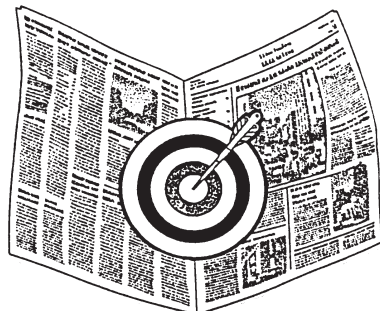

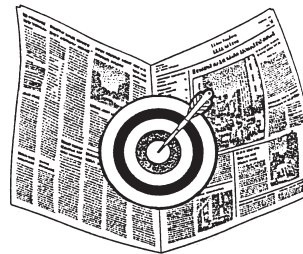

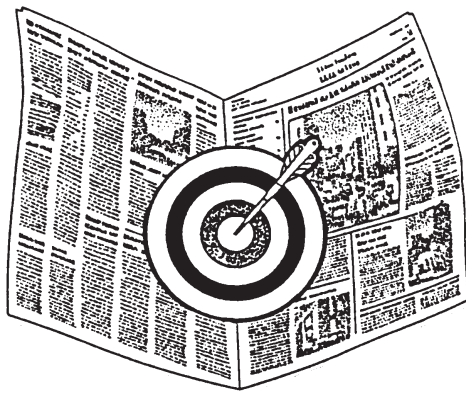

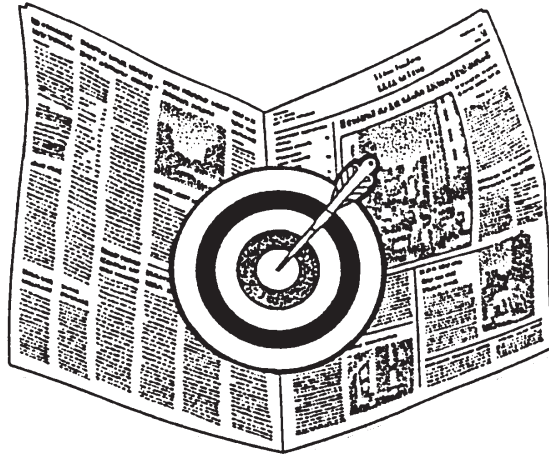

Upon completion of the program, we will circulate a program evaluation form to your program contact person. Your comments will help us to continue to make improvements in the Target Date program.

Sample Letter to Educators

Dear Educator,

(The name of your paper) is excited about being part of the Minnesota Newspaper Association's Newspapers in Education program called Minnesota Newspaper Target Date. This state-wide endeavor is designed to encourage exploration of Minnesota's cultural and economic diversity by comparing communities through the newspapers that serve them.

The Minnesota Newspaper Target Date program is held annually in March during Newspapers in Education Week - celebrated during the first full week of the month. We encourage you to join the 2011 celebration -- March 7-11.

Please join our growing list of Target Date educators. Take the time today to fill out the enclosed registration form.

All participating teachers will receive complimentary curriculum materials as soon as we receive your registration form. The materials include:

- ✓ A Teacher's Guide, "Reading Between the Lines: Minnesota Newspapers and Their Communities," a multi-level, multi-discipline five-day unit plan.

The guide also provides background information on newspapers for the uninitiated: glossary of newspaper terms, parts of a newspaper, etc. The guide includes a sample letter to newspaper companies requesting one copy of their paper for a particular (target) date. Worksheets may be duplicated.

- ✓ List of Participating Newspapers

If you have questions about Target Date, you may call the Minnesota Newspaper Association at 612/332-8844. Thank you!

Sincerely,

(Your designee)

Suggested Promotional Editorial Content for Minnesota Newspaper Target Date

1. Put in a notice (or more) about the project.

- Include:
- Description about the program (see material in this packet).
 - Teachers may call MNA at 612-332-8844 for more information about the program.
 - Free curriculum material will be provided to all participants.
 - Adaptable to most grade levels.

2. Feature a class or teacher who will be using the program.

Newspaper in Education Week is March 7-11, 2011. That might be a good week for a story or two. If a story appears before March, more teachers would be made aware of the program and could sign up.

3. Feature some work done by students as they study Minnesota newspapers.

For example, you might ask them to write an essay about the contributions their newspaper makes to their community. Or you might have them describe what life would be like without newspapers. Cartoons would also be a good way for them to express their opinions about a topic.
